COURT OF SPECIAL SESSIONS.

[Before justices Kelly and Dowling.]

The number of delinquents summoned for trial before this Court on Saturday was much larger than is estal at this time of the week. There were on the calendar 56 cases. this time of the week. There were on the calerdar 56 cases of which 8 were affairs of prisoners who—for one reason or enother—had been held over from a former Court for sentence, though the trial had previously been held. The total list reads as follows: Assault and battery, 22; petit larceny, 23; indecent exposure of person 1; violating health law 1; pecket-book freepping, 1; suspended cases, 8. Total, 56.

A Too FOND Riss.—Catherine Evelin complained that Sarah Smith had assaulted her, and in the course of the endearments wichanged on that occasion that the defendant had bitten her. The prisoner did not deny the charge but said: "She came into my room and insulted me and then I bit her." For using her down mouth for this illegitimate purpose the fair Sarah was compelled to pay $20.

The policemen who made the arrest stated that the prisoner, when in the Station-Bouse, confessed his guilt and begged the complainant to forgive him, saying that it was the first time and that he never would offend in like manner again. Notwithstanding this previous admission, the prisoner, on being arranged, pleaded "not guilty." He was, however, found guilty by the justice, and remanded for sentence until the next court day. elerk for Mr. Frederick Frank, who has a grocery store at the

The General Commercial of Thursday says:

The demand for exchange was less ective, and with more fiberal offerings. The marked was not quite so firm, many, at the close, reliating to bid above per, though regular depositors are nell islawed lote per $1,000 premium. The selling rate is also beginned to the concession were in several cases made. The applications for leans are increasing, but there is a considerable amount of pager matering, which is, in most cases, promptly not, and the supply of currency is ample for all legitlinsto purposes. Rates of interest range from 8-212 per cost, 8-29 being the leading figures for ungaceptionable manys, and 10-213 per cost for good commercial paper.
